Welcome from the Chair

Welcome to the September 2019 edition of your In Touch newsletter for members of the defined contribution categories. In this edition, we provide a summary of the financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2019 and an update on the investment performance of the defined contribution funds.

We also highlight a few of the key things you should think about before deciding how to invest your account, as well as a reminder of your flexible retirement options following the introduction of pension freedoms in April 2015 for members of defined contribution arrangements.

If you have any feedback or questions on the content of this newsletter, please let us know using the contact details on the back page.

Fund selection - making your choice

For every member of the defined contribution categories, choosing your funds is one of the most important decisions you need to make. These fund choices should be reviewed regularly.

The benefit statement that you receive each year from us is an important document. It provides information about your prospective benefits from the scheme and can help you plan ahead for your retirement.

It includes projections of your benefits, known as 'Statutory Money Purchase Illustrations'. These are designed to show what your pension might be worth in today's terms if you continue to pay contributions at the current rate.

Your investment choices now will determine the amount of money you will have to buy your benefits when you come to retire. When deciding how to invest your account, you should consider:

- Your age and how long you have before you plan to retire;
- Your personal attitude to risk and investment; and
- The different types of investment available.

You are able to access your benefits from age 55 (or potentially earlier if you are suffering from ill health). Your options are:

- You don't have to do anything with your pension pot straight away. You can leave it invested until you are ready to take your benefits.
- Take up to 25% of your pension pot as a tax-free cash sum and use the rest to buy a pension payable for your life (also known as an annuity).
- You can take all your pension pot as a cash lump sum; 25% is tax-free with the remainder taxed as income.
- You can take cash sums as you need them and leave the rest of your pension pot invested. Each lump sum will be 25% tax-free, with the balance being taxed as income.
- You can designate some or all of your pension pot to be for 'flexi-access drawdown'; 25% of the amount you allocate for drawdown can be taken as a tax-free cash sum and the rest stays invested. You can then draw taxable income from this pot of money.
- You can do a mixture of these options.
- Remember your pensions, from all sources, are to provide for you throughout your retirement. The earlier you take your benefits, the longer the money has to last.

In order to take advantage of any of these options, apart from leaving your pension pot invested or taking the whole of your pension pot as a lump sum, you will need to move your pension pot to an external arrangement which offers your preferred option(s). RPMI can give you more information on transferring.

Making an investment choice involves selecting one or more funds that match your attitude to the risks and rewards of investing.

'Risk' has a particular meaning in the investment context. The more risk you are prepared to take, the greater the potential return – and the greater the potential for loss of capital.

- Equities (shares in individual companies) carry a higher degree of risk, which could affect the value of your investment
- Bonds are usually seen as low to medium risk
- Cash investments are regarded as low risk
- Property funds are generally classed as medium risk

An explanation of the main asset classes is set out on the next page.

Equities

Equities (or company shares) are bought and sold on the stock market. The growth from investing in equities comes from increases in the value of shares together with any dividends paid. Changes in currency exchange rates can also have a significant impact, both positive and negative, on returns for overseas equities. Equities are classed as higher risk as their value can go up or down over shorter periods, sometimes dramatically, so equities are considered less suitable for short-term investment.

Bonds

Bonds are loans to a company or government (loans to the UK Government are called gilts). The company or government will pay a fixed rate of interest on the loan and repay the full amount at the end of a set period. Historically, bonds have achieved lower long-term returns than equities but greater returns than cash. Bonds can also fluctuate in price, but generally less than equities.

Cash

Cash, in investment terms, is not just putting money on deposit but also using a range of other financial instruments. The fund does not offer or set a rate of interest. These funds are very secure but unlikely to provide investment returns as high as other investments over the longer term. As a result of the low interest rate environment, the returns on cash funds have been very low, or negative, after charges. This is likely to continue whilst interest rates remain low. If you are invested in one of these funds, you should be aware that their value is unlikely to keep pace with inflation in these conditions. Such funds are therefore unlikely to be a suitable long-term investment.

Property

Property involves investing in business premises, such as office blocks, shopping centres and industrial units or in the shares of property companies, such as builders and commercial landlords.

You should always remember that past performance is not a guide to the future.

Members of this category will therefore receive annual fund statements featuring the Aegon branding in future. BlackRock will remain as investment manager of the funds offered to members (other than those managed by Legal & General).

Chair's Statement on Defined Contribution Governance

Trustee boards running defined contribution arrangements are now required to include an annual statement signed by the Chair in their Report & Financial Statements, setting out how their scheme meets the governance standards set by The Pensions Regulator. This includes an assessment of charges and transaction costs borne by members, and the extent to which those charges and costs represent good value for members. Having undertaken an assessment of the defined contribution categories for the year ended 31 March 2019, the Trustees have concluded that the costs and charges represent good value for members. You can read the latest Chair's Statement in full on pages 17 to 27 of the Annual Report & Financial Statements, which is available on request from RPMi (see back page for contact details). It is also available online at rpmi.co.uk/about/esps-members.

Security of Assets

As part of their regular monitoring of the defined contribution arrangements, the Trustees assess the security of the assets held with the providers, Aegon and Prudential, and the underlying investment managers. There were no areas of concern or issues for further investigation arising from the most recent review carried out by the Trustees' Advisers, Aon Hewitt Limited.

Changing your investment choice

If you require further information on the funds available or wish to change your fund choice, please contact RPMI, which administers the scheme. RPMI's contact details can be found on the back page.

The importance of the different types of risk can change over time. Whatever decision you make about your fund choice should not be regarded as a 'once and for all' decision, and you should review your investment decisions regularly to check that your strategy is still appropriate – especially if you decide to change your planned retirement date, the format in which you expect to take your benefits, or if you are nearing retirement.

The Trustees would urge members to consider obtaining independent financial advice before making any changes to the way in which their accounts are invested.

Under the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000, neither the Trustees nor staff at RPMI are able to advise members about their investment choice.

If you require advice, you should speak to an Independent Financial Adviser. If you do not already use a financial adviser, you can contact IFA Promotions, which will provide details of an Independent Financial Adviser local to you.

Electricity Supply Pension Scheme - AGM

The ESPS holds an Annual General Meeting for members, which relates to the scheme as a whole and does not cover any business specific to the individual Groups of the ESPS.

The purpose of the AGM is to receive the Annual Report and Financial Statements and the Auditors' Report, receive the report of the ESPS Trustee, and conduct any general business. This year's AGM will be held on Monday 25 November 2019 at the offices of Eversheds Sutherland, One Wood Street, London EC2V 7WS, starting at 1pm.

If you wish to attend, please contact RPMI for an agenda, location map and details of any resolutions.

Beware of pension scams

Members are reminded of what to look out for to avoid becoming a victim of a pension scam:

- Did you get cold called or an email out of the blue offering a free pension review?
- Is the firm or individual FCA registered? And are they authorised to give advice on pensions? Check at fca.org.uk/register
- Have there been complaints about the adviser, firm or investment? Is their address a PO Box or a serviced office? Can you contact the business at their registered office? Is the contact number a mobile number? Do a thorough internet search and check on forums and social media for mentions of the firm and the suggested investment.

Check at fca.org.uk/scamsmart for lists of known scams. Don't be rushed into anything as you could end up losing your pension savings and also get a huge tax bill.

You can call the Pensions Advisory Service on 0800 011 3797 if you have any doubts.
